

THE BOURBON NEWS.

SEMI-WEEKLY.

VOL. I.

PARIS, BOURBON COUNTY, KENTUCKY: TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1882.

NO. 55.

MAYSVILLE fair next week.

COME out of that linen duster.

LEXINGTON trotting races this week.

Frost will cut lots tobacco in Bourbon.

DR. SMITH has a pear tree in full bloom.

Tickets to Lexington and return, only 80 cents this week.

Now coal will go up, for some unaccountable reason.

The democratic candidates for Governor spoke at Lexington yesterday.

Woodford, property of Bowen & Co., won a race yesterday at Lexington.

All of our schools opened yesterday with a good attendance of pupils.

An extra leaves Falmouth for Paris, after the fair every evening this week.

Three marriages between parties living in our county and visiting our fair took place last week.

The Huntley troupe, which is the finest one that ever struck our town, will take in Maysville to-night.

Our congressional election in this county, on Oct. 15th, will be by viva voce, with the County Committee.

Large quantities of tobacco burning in the barns in Nicholas county, in consequence of improper handling.

Sixteen coaches full of excursionists passed through Paris on Sunday to Mt. Sterling to attend the dedication of the new Catholic church.

At Carlisle yesterday, conference was still in session, and up to 2 o'clock. The delegation is large, and the series of meetings were said to have been interesting.

R. B. Marsh, Manager of the Lexington Opera House, has promised to visit this city with the Holeman Opera Troupe, consisting of forty persons, during the present season.

We have about had our last five days' fair. Three will probably be the number in the future. More than this cannot be forced on the public, and hard-headedness will have to succumb.

TOM WILLIAMS orders "that on and after this date, no more stop-over checks will be granted, or Godfrey's Cordial bottles and brass buttons be received as currency, on the "Black Maria" line."

WILL REED, a harness maker from Winchester, and a brother of Mrs. Griffith, of the Thurston House, while on his road South Saturday, got crushed to death by the cars at Midway, and was buried here this morning.

The firm of Peale & Chappell, of Carlisle, is one of the most enterprising business firms of the State. Chappell returned last week from New York, and now Peale has gone to Cincinnati. They cannot keep what they buy.

The Maysville special police, who appear to be starting it regularly at the county fairs this season, will play their next match game at Falmouth, this week. They are clever, gentlemanly fellows, and do things right were ever they go?

This business of a boy or fool man holding a girl's arm while promenading, is called the "country tuck" by the refined society out East, and is never seen indulged except by the gawks from the West. There is enough of it in Kentucky to sicken the balance of the Union.

The following delegates to the Republican congressional convention at Catlettsburg to-day, passed through here yesterday afternoon: Jno. T. Dorsey, H. O. Hamer, A. Ragan, W. A. Warford, Louis Carr, of Fleming, and Harry Wadsworth, A. Wadsworth, and Bob Blaine, of Maysville.

COURT-DAY was well attended at Carlisle yesterday, but yet there seemed but little stock on the market. A few sucking mules were delivered to buyers at from $50 to $75. A colt show of the "Old John" stock of horses, took place in the afternoon, but our train left too soon to ascertain the result.

The hop at the Bourbon House Friday night, by far eclipsed anything in both attendance and dress of any heretofore given in this city. The large dining hall was crowded to such an extent that it was uncomfortable for the dancers, while spectators thronged all the porches and sitting room space in the hotel.

The newsboy on Capt. Winston's train took up an idea yesterday that there was something pretty loud in the bottom of his peanut basket, and a little finger investigation dug up two large young chickens which the train had killed at Shawhan last Friday, and had been hidden there by Joe Batson, during the boy's absence in the rear car.

Fair Notes.

The boys said it couldn't be done, but you had better bet that they didn't bet.

Prof. A. Gutzeit took a premium on the celebrated Steinway piano and sold one at the fair.

Wilson Owen, Republican for Congress against John D. White, was in attendance of our fair last Thursday.

Our fair grounds ought to have a prominent stand four hundred feet wide for that "country tuck" jug-handle class. Mrs. Frank Armstrong deserves much credit for the tasty manner in which she arranged things in the up-stairs of Floral Hall, at our fair.

A few girls of the tag end of society didn't wear their feet off up to their knees promenading at the fair, for late in the evening proof was given that they still had feet.

"Bally" Paton took the premium Saturday over Charlie Redmon, in the fat man's riding ring. It took four yards of blue ribbon to go around his bowler's hemisphere when the proud honors were bestowed.

Cat-hell—In olden times they were pushed for names when Dr. D. W. Cat-hell's ancestry, of Baltimore Md., crowded this upon the human family.

An old Land-Mark Gone.

Old Gilead Church, which has withstood the storms of tempestuous time for the last fifty years, near Horace Miller's, on the Maysville pike three miles from here, has been torn down and re-erected as a tobacco barn, by Will Taylor. The old grounds where the church stood, are still preserved a bushy, briary waste, by which the timid schoolboy will whistle trembling notes for years to come, through fear of ghouls and ghosts.

Visitation Academy.

In company with T. D. Wakely, one of our city painters, we visited Visitation Academy, on an eminence of our city's suburbs, Saturday. Whilst admiring the exquisite job of work on the outer walls, we were introduced to the kind Mother in charge of the Academy and were shown through the institution in all of its apartments. It is a complete piece of mechanism, and, being the fifth building of the kind built and supervised by this lady, of course nothing has been left undone regarding the thoroughness of the building. The Academy opened last week with seventeen boarders, and a large day-school attendance. The prospect for an increased attendance from a distance is flattering. We found enough about the course of instruction, discipline and inner life of that institute to patronize it had we a daughter.

A Progressive Sermon.

Rev. George W. Sweeney preached at the Presbyterian Church at the Union services on Sunday evening. The church was filled to overflowing and many went away that could not gain admittance. Rev. S. preached from the text:

"God hath made of one blood all nations of men, to dwell on all the face of the earth, to fear after God and find Him."

He referred to the orthodox and scientific interpretations of the scriptures which speak of the creation of man and that Christians and scientists do not differ so much after all as to the fact, but as to the method of his creation—one method being instantaneous and the other progressive.

He spoke next of the unity among all nations of men—physical, intellectual, affectional and spiritual, that the growth of commerce, and literature and language and religion was intensifying this natural brotherhood among the nations of the earth. His last point was the destiny of nations. He believed that nations would enter the next life largely under the same conditions as they leave this. Men will take their "bodies" there and being incorruptible and glorified. It is reasonable to believe that there will be an increase of faculties, that the sights and sounds unknown here will be enjoyed there.

Men will take their "MINDS" there, and hence, memory and the power to learn and reason. It is reasonable therefore that in that world there will be philosophy and astronomy and mathematics and science and all that goes to feed and nourish the mind.

Men will take their "HEARTS" there, and hence, friendship, society and loves and as the hearts differ there will be degrees of friendship and love there.

The spiritual nature will also be carried there, and songs and services and doing the will of God will be there.

These faculties will enter on an infinite career of growth and expansion. An eternity for philosophy and music and poetry, law and religion will be the heritage of man in that bright, beautiful and endless Summer Land.

SOCIETY SCINTILLATIONS.

Hay fever re-unions are now fashionable.

Now give us something new—a circus, for instance.

Every man hath his vanity, and every vanity it's collapse.

"Ho, boy" is a border ruffian phrase too coarse for this country.

Wm. M. Finley, of the Louisville Post, paid the News a call Saturday.

Miss Eva Taylor, of Midway, has returned from a trip to Colorado.

Black stockings and white dresses were predominant at the fair last week.

A little bustling booze was indulged in by the "ho, boy" clan last week.

The Lexington Guards will attend the Blackburn barbecue at Midway to-day.

Bridesmaids at weddings have gone out of fashion among the bon-ton in England.

Messrs Will Messeck and George D. Mitchell, of Covington, took in the fair last week.

An electric light is too much for a complexion. It's a dead give away for a painted face.

A street preacher in Buffalo had his congregation dispersed by a dog fight in the next block.

The latest English fashion is the painting of blue veins on ladies' temples, wrists and arms.

Four of the handsomest dressed la-d-i-e-s on the promenade Thursday, were from L-e-x-i-n-g-t-o-n.

The man who disputes with Bob Ingersoll makes a fool of himself and advertises and pleases Robert.

Those pretty pressed flannel palliases are fast creeping into the good graces of our fashionable young ladies.

Thought is the first faculty of man; to express it is one of his first desires; to spread it his dearest privilege.

The most effective costumes are those which are fashioned with a view to the requirements of the face and figure.

It is dangerous to be a husband in Hungary. One hundred widows are under arrest for poisoning their husbands.

There is a lady at Saratoga Spring who wears real point lace hosiery, and her rivals think she is spitefully stuck-up.

The premium for the best lady rider was divided between Miss Annie Redmon and Miss Annie Redmon and Miss Alice Sparks.

The ladies of the Christian and Presbyterian churches last week, were very successful in their supper and dinner, enterprises.

Nix, with a four-in-hand turn-out, did the honors of "worst turn-out" to perfection. Only one thing was needed—Crad-dock for a passenger.

Some of the Iowa editors who have been sporting themselves in Colorado were robbed at Leadville. The rogues mistook them for bank presidents.

British army officers are buying mules in Cincinnati. It is a good chance for Kentucky to sell off her old stock of statesmen.

Falmouth has a sunflower six feet in circumference. What a daisy headlight that would make for a Lexington girl's bosom.

Red and blue velvet parasols trimmed with flowers, lace and embroidery, are carried in open carriages at the seaside resorts.

A Mississippi colored woman named Moss recently gave birth to four babies. Her husband wished his name had been "Rollingstone."

Love her? Yea, I love her with that whole-souled love that bids me be jealous of the summer's zephyrs that kisses her cheeks—[Flirtation.]

Gen. Buford danced the orangoutang reel, chimpanzee waltz and several other far-fetched new high-kicking dances at the hop Friday night.

Pretty Girl—"How much is this a yard?" Dry goods clerk—"Only one kiss." Pretty Girl—"If it is so cheap I will take three yards and grandma will pay you."

Feathers are to trim the Winter bonnets as they do those now worn, but more elaborately and profusely. The long, so-called Swiss plumes, will be in highest favor.

Tennessee has 1,800 blind persons, and the Nashville girls wear their dresses so short and flirt the them so high as to leave the impression that every man in State was blind.

Three delegations consisting of near one hundred school girls from Texas, passed through here last Friday and Saturday, en route for colleges at Lexington and Millersburg, Ky., and Staunton Va.

A woman of Lincoln, Ill., left $200 in cash by will "to the widow in Lincoln who shall first secure a husband." One widow secured a husband and that cash in forty minutes after the will was read.

Who was the Paris lady who turned the somersault in the surf at Old Point Comfort?

Those spotted hats worn by the "Ho, boy" gentlemen were a dead give away at the fair.

Miss Zurilda Ray wore her grandmother's dress at the Bourbon House hop Friday night.

We heard it said by many that Miss Katie McClelland was the belle of the series of hops here last week.

When this "ho, boy" nuisance strikes a small town, it is time for the rich sweet art of cultivation to commence being taught in every household.

The teachers who attended the teachers' institute of Warren county last week decided that "oats are ripe" is a correct sentence. Of course it are.

A Texas husband had a pretty wife of whom he was exceedingly jealous. As she was given to frivolity he determined to cure her, so he brutally branded her on the cheek with an iron for marking cattle.

About fifteen years ago a citizen of this county was divorced from his wife, and went to California, where he amassed a nice fortune. He has returned to Kentucky, and is rumored that he will be shortly remarried to his divorced wife.—[Lex. Transcript.]

The Trader, Turfman, Farmer and Sportsman.

A sucking mule recently sold in Lincoln county for $110.

Stock hogs, of every grade, and suck-mules are selling at firm prices.

Milton Young has recently bought Wildfire and Olivia, bay fillies, at $700 each.

A sale of fat hogs, for November delivery, was made in Jessamine county, at seven cents.

The trotting and running races at the Falmouth Fair next will be very attractive, and ought to draw largely.

The corn crops of Bourbon, Nicholas, Bath and Fleming are overwhelmingly large, and but few hogs to eat the corn.

It is said that white burley in Motgown county will average from $200 to $300 per acre. The corn crop will also be large.

Milton Young has sold his noted and horse, Bootjack, to Messrs. Dwyer Bros. He is a chestnut gelding, by Bonnie Scotland, and is four years old.

In St. Louis 500 mules have been purchased for use in the Egyptian war. It is the finest lot ever gathered and will be shipped direct to Alexandria.

I. L. Yearsley, of the Millersburg precinct, wants to rent from 30 to 50 acres of tobacco land, and 25 acres for corn. He offers to anyone in his precinct.

The following is a summary of the condition of Kentucky crops taken from Commissioner Bowman's monthly report: Wheat, 6,000,000 bushels in excess of any previous year; corn, three per cent. above the average; barley, above the average; oats, twenty per cent. above the average; clover and timothy, twenty-five per cent. above the average; tobacco sixteen per cent. below the average; hemp thirty-five per cent. below the average; potatoes, seventy-five per cent. above any crop ever raised in the State; fruit, except in a few localities, a failure.
